Summer Reading Program Kick-off Day

Saturday, June 8 • 9am-5pm

Details: Adults (p.3), Teens (p.7), Children (p.8)
Over the past editions of Browsing, I’ve written about the fulfillment of the Library’s current Strategic Plan, which has been in place since 2017. We have accomplished a number of the things outlined in the plan, such as increasing our program offerings, and adding more copies of popular materials.

The final component to this plan is to reexamine our space to create more seating, as well as introducing more technology for the community with a new collaborative workspace. At the March 2019 Board meeting, the Board hired a local construction management firm, W.B. Olson, to manage this project. Over the summer months, we will finalize the documents and timeline the construction process. In the lead up to the start of the construction, you’ll notice that some things in the media section may be shifted. We anticipate the start of construction will be later in the summer, and we expect it to last approximately six weeks.

The collaborative workspace is a multifunctional space designed to help the Deerfield community learn, create, collaborate, and have fun with technology. We will provide everyone with equal access to materials and resources that encourage learning in a welcoming environment. We will be moving our very popular 3D printer into the new space, and additional items under review for purchase are a laser engraver, 3D scanner, and STEAM kits.

The workspace will include AV equipment such as a sound booth, microphones, and a camera. We plan to have creative crafting equipment, such as a sewing and embroidery machine available for use. Finally, we’ll move our Digital Media Lab from the basement so that all our patron-use equipment is located in one space.

Watch our website and social media channels for more information on this exciting new addition to DPL.

Automatic renewals are here!

Yes, it’s true. If your checked out items are eligible for renewal, it will happen automatically, up to two times! This new service offered by DPL provides the convenience of enjoying materials for a longer period of time with less worry about returning them on time or remembering to request a renewal. Your to-do list just got a little shorter!

How does it work?

- Two days before the due date, eligible items will automatically renew for the full renewal period.
- What’s not eligible? Any item on hold for another patron, Lucky Duck books, new videos, and items acquired through interlibrary loan.
- Digital items (e-books, e-audiobooks, streaming movies and music) are not affected.

How will I be notified?

- Patrons who have an e-mail address in their account will get a courtesy notice letting them know which items were not automatically renewed, and which items now have a new due date.
- Patrons who receive text message notices will receive a courtesy notice listing the items that were not renewed.

How can I sign up for a courtesy notice?

- To sign up for email notification: ask in person at the library, by phone, or update your patron account on the Library website: deerfieldlibrary.org. Click on “My Account” on top right side.

Reminder: You can check on your due dates anytime using the “My Account” link on our website.
